

A circular phylogenetic tree of the order Accipitriformes. The tree is rooted at the bottom and branches outwards. Families are labeled around the perimeter, with some highlighted in red: Accipitridae, Buteonidae, and Elanidae. The tree shows a complex branching pattern with many subfamilies and genera listed.